OVERVIEW

In 2010, I graduated from the Turkish Naval Academy, Department of Naval Architecture and Marine Engineering. After graduating, I worked as a master and chief officer on ships of different types and sizes from 20 meters to 90 meters over 12 years with the sea experiences and achievements in operations and personnel management. During these duties, I managed the ship docking, undocking and shipyard processes many times. With this experience of 12 years, good level of ship maneuvering (including MJP water jet and arneson propulsion system), all kinds of navigational operations, personnel management, periodic maintenance of the devices that must be done on the ship, using a wide variety of navigation devices and materials, a wide variety of powerboats. I have a good level of usage skills. In addition to these, I gained the skills of process development, project management, problem solving, leading large groups, team building and working in complex work. In addition to my deck knowledge, I have mechanical knowledge as I am a graduate of Naval Architecture and Marine Engineering. I also graduated from Istanbul University Human Resources Management Department Master Degree Program in 2016 and Istanbul University Maritime Transportation and Management Engineering Department's Master Degree Program in 2018. I can speak and write English fluently. Since I have a special passport (green passport), I have right to enter many countries, including the Schengen area, without a visa.
